JÜRGENS

ADAMS & BROAD

There's a "class" and style about our store that you're compelled to notice the minute you enter—IT'S THE GOODS. We buy our merchandise from only standard and well-known makers. Thirty years of business experience has taught us that you can't get $1.50 for $1.00 except in rare cases. Shakespeare says you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear. We don't attempt to get fine goods from cheap grade manufacturers, and that's the reason we've sold more fine mahogany furniture so far this season by long odds than ever before. Then, another thing is that we sell Genuine Solid Mahogany Furniture at almost the same price you pay for oak—never over 10 per cent. more.

Buy that little lady you like so well a piece of Jurgens' Genuine Mahogany Furniture. It'll please her for a lifetime.

$375.00 buys a Hand-made Solid Mahogany Clock, with imported English tubular chimel, dial engraved by hand showing phases of the moon.

FIRELESS LOCOMOTIVES
FROM THE FATHERLAND
CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Fireless locomotives are from the Fatherland. They are simple, ingenious and economical. They are not only a success but practically the only type of motive power which can be recommended for plants where the question of fire prevention is a first consideration. They have no fire box.

The machine resembles the ordinary type minus the fire box, funnel and like attachments. It is not suited for interrupted railway service, but must keep near the source of supply, the boiler of some local power station. At this station the tank of the locomotive is filled with steam, and on this steam supply the machine is run for four or five hours doing ordinary switching work. It is really an accumulation engine, the necessary power for which is supplied by a quantity of heated water.

The water supplies the steam. In default of the fire the steam development is effected at the expense of the heat contained in the water. And the engine works with a constantly decreasing power. This type of engine offers ablute safety against fire which might be caused by flying sparks. And all smoke nuisance is eliminated.

There is marked economy, since the cost of producing steam in stationary boiler plants is less than when produced by ordinary fire locomotives. The fact must not be lost sight of that only one man is required to run the engine. There are little or no repairs needed on one of these machines. Since there is no fire box the strain on the boiler is practically nil. The engine can be made ready for work at a moment's notice.

NOT IN "TYPHOID" CLASS
Milkwagon Driver in Norfolk to Appeal to Government Experts.
NORFOLK, Dec. 4.—Henry Harrison Comstock, a Norfolk milkwagon driver, placed under ban by the health authorities because of his alleged typhoid infection and dissemination of germs through milk twelve years after his recovery from typhoid fever, declared today that he will appeal and submit himself to government experts for examination.

Comstock, who resists being placed in the "typhoid Mary" class, says he has been in the milk business here for seven years with no suspicion of this kind having fallen upon him before.

He is 35 years old and from Paris, Ill. He first came to Virginia with the 35th coast artillery at Fortress Monroe in 1901.
